In this article, we've compiled a list of 50 must-see films from the world of cult and late night cinema. These are films that have captured the imaginations of generations of viewers, and that continue to inspire and entertain today.

Horror

Horror is one of the most popular genres of cult and late night cinema, and it's easy to see why. These films offer viewers a chance to experience the thrill of fear in a safe and controlled environment.

- Night of the Living Dead (1968): A classic of the zombie genre, this film follows a group of survivors as they try to stay alive during a zombie apocalypse.
- Evil Dead II (1987): A campy and over-the-top horror film, this film follows a group of college students who go on a weekend trip to a remote cabin in the woods.
- The Texas Chain Saw Massacre (1974): A terrifying and suspenseful film, this film follows a group of friends who are terrorized by a family of cannibalistic killers.
- Cabin Fever (2002): A gruesome and realistic horror film, this film follows a group of college students who go on a weekend trip to a remote cabin in the woods.
- Hostel (2005): A disturbing and violent horror film, this film follows a group of backpackers who are kidnapped and tortured by a group of sadistic criminals.

Science Fiction

Science fiction is another popular genre of cult and late night cinema, and it's easy to see why. These films offer viewers a chance to explore the unknown and imagine the possibilities of the future.

- The Rocky Horror Picture Show (1975): A campy and over-the-top musical, this film follows a young couple who go to a strange and mysterious castle.
- Blade Runner (1982): A classic of the cyberpunk genre, this film follows a former police officer who is tasked with hunting down rogue replicants.

- The Matrix (1999): A groundbreaking science fiction film, this film follows a group of rebels who are fighting against a sentient computer program that has enslaved humanity.
- Donnie Darko (2001): A mind-bending science fiction film, this film follows a teenage boy who is haunted by visions of a giant rabbit.
- Inception (2010): A complex and ambitious science fiction film, this film follows a group of thieves who use dream-sharing technology to steal information.

Comedy

Comedy is a genre that is often overlooked in discussions of cult and late night cinema, but there are plenty of great comedies that fit into this category.

- Monty Python and the Holy Grail (1975): A classic of British comedy, this film follows a group of knights on a quest for the Holy Grail.
- The Big Lebowski (1998): A cult classic comedy, this film follows a laid-back bowling enthusiast who gets caught up in a kidnapping scheme.
- Napoleon Dynamite (2004): A quirky and offbeat comedy, this film follows a teenage boy who is trying to find his place in the world.
- Shaun of the Dead (2004): A hilarious zombie comedy, this film follows a group of friends who are trying to survive a zombie apocalypse.
- Hot Fuzz (2007): An action-packed comedy, this film follows a police officer who is transferred to a small town and finds himself investigating a series of mysterious deaths.

Action

Action is another popular genre of cult and late night cinema, and it's easy to see why. These films offer viewers a chance to experience the thrill of danger and excitement.

- Die Hard (1988): A classic action film, this film follows a police officer who must take on a group of terrorists who have taken over a skyscraper.
- Terminator 2: Judgment Day (1991): A groundbreaking action film, this film follows a cyborg from the future who is sent back in time to protect a young boy.
- The Matrix Reloaded (2003): An action-packed sequel to the original Matrix film, this film follows Neo and his allies as they fight against the machines.
- John Wick (2014): A stylish and violent action film, this film follows a retired hitman who is forced to come out of retirement.
- Mad Max: Fury Road (2015): A stunning action film, this film follows a group of rebels who are trying to escape from a tyrannical warlord.

These are just a few of the many great cult and late night films that are out there. If you're looking for something to watch that is different, unusual, or just plain fun, then be sure to check out some of these films.
